Product description

The PCCB brake pad set for the Porsche 911 model 992 Turbo S / Turbo is specially designed for vehicles with PCCB ceramic brakes and offers outstanding braking performance. These high-quality brake pads are intended for the rear axle of the vehicle and help to transfer braking force effectively and reliably.

The brake pads are made from the highest quality materials, ensuring a long service life and maximum safety under various driving conditions. They are ideal for drivers who expect optimum braking performance from their Porsche 911 model 992 Turbo S / Turbo.

The OEM numbers for these brake pads are 992698451L and 992698093E, confirming their authenticity and compatibility with the corresponding Porsche models. As Porsche genuine parts, these brake pads are new, unused and undamaged, further underlining their quality and reliability.

With these PCCB brake pads, you can be sure that your vehicle is optimally equipped to handle the challenges of the road or the racetrack. They not only offer improved braking performance, but also a reassuring sense of safety when it matters most.
